

MASFAP December 2020 Communication

2020 Year-In-Review

Hello MASFAP Friends and Family,

I can't believe time has moved so quickly this year. As I reflect on everything that has transpired in 2020, I'm reminded of moments of joy, sadness, chaos and hope. We have all learned new things this year... from ways to manage life in quarantine to ways to continue to serve students and keep our institutions running remotely and more. I have learned a lot about myself and others as well, and I know that I am blessed to have such wonderful friends, co-workers, family and MASFAP in my life. We have stuck together, called on each other, given words of hope and encouragement when needed and slowed down to keep ourselves and our families safe (often rediscovering some of the simpler joys of life).

As we approach the end of 2020, I want to wish you and your family the best holiday season. Our celebrations may look slightly different this year, but the warmth in our hearts and the love for one another is known even if we cannot be in each other's presence. I know we all look forward to when we can see and hug each other again.

I also want to thank you. Thank you for being amazing members and making MASFAP an organization that adds value and support to one another, our state and students! Thank you for your continued support and dedication. I'm hopeful for 2021 and am so excited for what's to come under our 2021 President, Becca Diskin, and the 2021 Executive Board's leadership.

Wishing you a wonderful holiday season and many blessings in the new year my friends! I hope you are able to enjoy a simple, stress-free holiday and are able to relax and unwind over your break.

Stay safe and healthy,

Dena
